The Potter Investigation.

By Telegraph to the News.

Major Burke detailed the condition of the affairs in the State when in the hands of the Republicans in 1876. The registrars were all Republicans. We offered to prove frauds and to be accorded equal representation, but we were laughed at. The census of the Parish of Orleans for '75 showed a colored population of 57,647, and on that basis there ought to have been a colored vote of 11,529, but in '76 the registration of colored votes amounted to 24 300. We objected to this, but were again laughed at. The Supervisor of Registration was a Republican, and fixed matters as he pleased. There were several thousand white votes thrown out, but the colored ones were allowed to stand. Witness recollected that there was but one instance in which affidavits in regard to riots and tumult came up in proper shape as required by law, and this was protested by the Republicans from the Parish of Concordia. The Returning Board took no notice of it and counted the whole vote of the Parish for the Republicans. The returns that the witness got in before the Republicans ascertained their full vote indicated a majority for Nicholls over Packard of nearly 9,000, and for Tilden electors over Hayes' electors a majority of 7,000 to 8,000. The Democratic party gained the support of many colored Republicans through barbecues, persuasions and other methods. Unusual pains were taken by the Democrats to prevent intimidation—intimidation of voters all came from the Republican side.

Seeking to Modify the Treaty of Berlin.

Bye Cabl to the News.

LONDON, August 22.—A special despatch to the Times from Bucharest says Minister Cogalniceno is about to go to the various capitals to seek such modification of the treaty of Berlin concerning Jews as will avert the necessity of the election of the Constituent Assembly to amend the Roumanian constitution. The Ministry believe that an appeal to the people will result in their dismissal and fear, this will be followed by the accusations and prosecutions such they brought against their predecessors. The Ministers argue that gradual admission of Jews to civil and political rights will be better than the abrupt change proposed by the treaty, because the latter is so obnoxious to the people that they will find means to make the Jews feel their displeasure without giving room for European interference.

THE MEXICAN BORDER TROUBLES.

Minister Zamacona on the Situation.

Senor Zamacona, Mexican minister at Washington, having recently been asked if he anticipated war between the United States and Mexico, replied: "By no means. President Diaz is very anxious to preserve friendly relations with the United States, and is doing every thing in his power to put down lawlessness on the border. But the Mexican government is like this country in that respect; it cannot at all times keep perfect order in outlying and sparsely inhabited States. I have visited many ports of the United States and been brought into contact with the best classes of the American people, merchants and manufacturers, and I have found not the least sympathy with those who seek to provoke hostilities between the countries. On the contrary there seems to be a most sincere desire to preserve peace and develop the commercial relations between the two countries. Since 1848 there has been talk about Mexican depredations. So much was said and written on the subject that at last in 1868, after 20 years' agitation, a mixed commission was agreed upon which should examine and arbitrate all claims for damages. In 1876 the commission concluded its labors with this result: In the class of robberies by Mexicans crossing the border during the 20 years between 1848 and 1868 there were only 25 claims. Twenty of these, amounting to $4,709,472, were disallowed, and five, amounting to $22,676, were allowed. In the class of Indian depredations across the border from 1848 to 1868 there were 10 claims aggregating $445,829 Of this immense sum but $622 was allowed by the commission. Other classes were put in by Americans living in Mexico who had lost their property, been injured in body or subjected to forced loans. Their claims amounted to over $470,000,000; 831 of these claims were dismissed, and 168, amounting to $4,125,622, were allowed. No one has disputed the impartiality of the umpires, yet this is the result of the 20 years' depredations about which so much has been said." Zamacona said that he did not believe any unusual organization was in progress on the Mexican side with a view of repelling the invasion of American troops. Minister Foster was now treating with the government in Mexico, but no definite arrangement had yet been arrived at with a view to the use of United States troops in the pursuit of depredators taking refuge on Mexican soil, and no permission had ever been given from them to cross the border. An examination of the claims rejected by the commission would give an insight into the character of the persons engaged in the effort to produce a war sentiment in this country.

THE INVASION FROM TEXAS.

Colonel Mackenzie, who has just crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico, is after Aureola, who raided Texas last week. Mackenzie has 1,000 men, 4 pieces of artillery and several Gatling guns. His force surrounded Newtown on Saturday, but Auerola escaped. It is believed that, while Mackenzie is going one way, Lieutenant Bullis has gone another and will strike Saragossa or Santa Rosa. All the Mexican troops at Piedras Negras, about 100, have gone up river. They are ordered to skirmish with the Americans but to avoid a general engagement.

Senor Orrelas has addressed a communication to Gen. Ord requesting information as to the correctness of the report of Mackenzie's invasion of Mexico. Ord replied that he had no official news of Mackenzie being in Mexico, but if he was it was with no other intent than to punish raiders who had been depredating on Texas soil, and no apprehension of a collision need be entertained under any circumstance, for Mackenzie has so formidable a force that the Mexicans dare not resist his march.

When General Ord left Washington last month it was understood that Mackenzie should cross into Mexico on the next provocation and should take a large force, and that he was not to report to Ord until after something decisive was accomplished.

Unaccountable Longevity.

New York Times.

Mrs. Phebe Haley has just now died at North Pownal, Vt., at the great age of 105 years, seventy-three of which were passed in the company of her husband, who some time ago was gathered to his father at the ripe age of of ninety. She was the mother of fourteen children, three of whom, all boys, are still alive and past fourscore, with a prospect of becoming like that many-wintered crow, their sire. In speaking thus we have no intention of casting a slur upon longevity, which in itself is an honorable thing, and tells of a virtuous and temperate course of life, of a a constitution unweakened by dissipation and vice and of an innate toughness of fibre which is but too seldom seen in these latter days. When a man has lived much longer than the allotted span he commonly has a theory by which to explain how he has attained to so great an age. One hoary sage has never eaten more than one meat at dinner; another has steadily practiced like a trencher-knight and revelled in variety; another has never drunk anything but water, and another has always been in bed before 10 o'clock at night. To one or other of these trivial causes each attributes his longevity with as implicit and childlike a faith as marked "Father William," who held that his advanced years were due to his habit of standing on his head for several hours daily. It will be useful, then to trace the long lives of the elder Mr. Haley and his three sons to their possible cause. We are sorry to say that it is to be found where any respectable moral philosopher ought to blush to find it.

For, according to the newspaper reports of this remarkable family, its head was a man after Mr. Assemblyman Jones' own heart. From his youth up "he was addicted to drinking and accustomed to indulge in all sorts of dissipation, besides possessing a very ugly temperament." Of his living sons "nearly all are intemperate" and flourishing like green bay trees unhacked by the axe of Time, which has cut down many more promising scions around them, but left them to wave onward to a ripe old age. Their lives and their to earnest temperance standing rebuke whole volume in praise of temperance and its ing views which Assemblyman Jones laid before the congregated wisdom of the State during the last session of the Legislature.

It is worth while also to call attention to that other preservative and tanner of the tissues which is quite as effectual as alcohol—an ugly temper, namely. According to the books, violent excesses of passion cannot be indulged in without detriment to health, but yet nothing is more frequent in persons of great age. Indeed, the cause of this is patent, since the blood of aged people is apt to course chill and slowly in their veins, and anything which sends it leaping with the vigor of youth should be beneficial, provided the vessels of the brain are strong enough to keep their integrity under the shock. However this may be, we would not urge upon the rising generation the advisability of attempts to stir a fever in the blood of age by using devices such as the dutiful young Jones Chuzzlewn employed in reference to his father. Even if an aged and undesirable relative is peculiarly peevish and susceptible to slights and indignities it will not be safe to subject him to too many of them, since there is no certain telling whether they will cut short the promise of his years or extend it into an indefinite reality.

Care and trouble are also said to be peculiarly active in inducing the diseases incident to modern life, and are put down by Dr, Carpenter as principal causes of early death. And yet the advanced age of 105 years at which Mrs. Haley died does not bear out this belief. Mrs. Haley was a religious woman of a gentle temper, and the amount of mental suffering to which she must have been subjected by the intemperance and violent behavior of her husband and the drunkenness of her sons through so many long years is something quite appalling to think of. Yet she lived through it all and preserved her faculties even down to the day of her death in an almshouse, to which the improvidence of those who should have been her stay brought her at last. The history of the family is surely a remarkable one and worth thinking about, as well because of the way in which it seems to be an exception to general hygiene as of the manner in which, if wholly true, it upsets the theories of Sir Cornewall Lewis and Mr. Thom.

The Scourge at New Orleans in 1853.

New Orleans Picayune.

According to the United States census the population of New Orleans in 1850 was 129,747, which in 1853 had increased to 154,132. The last preceding epidemic was in 1847, from which date to 1853 the increase in population was about 45,500, besides an estimated floating or transient population of about 5,000, giving an unacclimated population of nearly 50,500. The total population susceptible of yellow fever was then estimated at 60,000, counting those who had escaped in 1847, though liable. During the summer of 1853, according to such records as could be obtained, and the opinions of experienced citizens, about 36,000 people left the city, reducing the population then here to about 125,000.

The monthly returns from all of the cemeteries of interments in that year were in January 518, February 487, March 508, April 510, May 676, June 668, July 2,132, August 6,298, September 1,621, October 700, November 747, December 759. Total 15,572. Of these burials 7,063 were within city limits.

The deaths from cholera in 1853 were 585. From various epidemic fevers the deaths were 589, from consumption, 755; from various nervous diseases, 1,161; from sun-stroke, 21; suicides, 14. The deaths of children under five years of age were 3,250.

The total number of cases of yellow fever at the Charity Hospital in 1853 was 3,312, with 1,890 deaths. The Howard Association had charge of 9,353 cases, deaths 2,252. At the Touro Infirmary were 523 cases, 213 deaths. At the Maison de Sante 338 cases, 97 deaths. At the Luzenberg Hospital 150 cases, 79 deaths. At the four Board of Health and Howard Infirmaries 2,613 cases, 1,032 deaths. In the City Work-house there were 89 cases, 14 deaths; City Prison, 30 cases, 5 deaths; at the Boys' Orphan Asylum, 60 cases, 2 deaths; at the Camp-street Female Orphan Asylum, 81 cases, 4 deaths; at the Poydras Asylum, 50 cases, 9 deaths; at the Circus-street Infirmary (estimated,) 300 cases, 100 deaths. The cases in private practice numbered 9,541; deaths, 1,691. Total cases recorded in the report of the commission, 29,020; total deaths, 8,101, or 27.91 per cent, or at the rate of 100 deaths to 358 cases.

Beer Cheaper than Water.

San Francisco Call.

Efforts have been made in this city, as our readers know, to keep the price of water at extortionate figures—at such rates that it has been a common saying that water costs the people more than their bread, which is literally true. How long this condition of things will continue is a question for consumers to answer, but we imagine the time is near at hand when the victory will be in favor of the people, just as has been the beer war in the Western cities. The brewers combined to keep the retail price of beer at unreasonable prices, refusing to furnish those retailers who sold by the glass for less than five cents; but the wholesalers have had to succumb, for beer is now sold for three cents a glass. If San Francisco had the cheap beer, it is probable it would be so much cheaper than Spring Valley water that the difficulty would be solved at once.

SOLICITOR RAYNER'S CASE.

He Says He Has Not Heard That Secretary Sherman is to Remove Him.

Special Dispatch to the New York World.

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Kenneth Rayner, Solicitor of the Treasury, says that if Secretary Sherman intends removing him, as rumored, he has not been informed of the fact. Mr. Rayner thinks the report to be a false one, as his official and personal relations with Mr. Sherman have been of the pleasantest description. Assistant Secretary Hawley and the appointment clerk, Mr. Vance, say that Secretary Sherman has never spoken to them of removing Mr. Rayner. The charges against the Solicitor are that he makes unwise and unwarrantable decisions, and on one occasion gave two diametrically opposite opinions on the same subject. Mr. Rayner's opinion that Dr. Mary Walker was entitled to her salary as aclerk in the Treasury Department for the unexpired balance of a year for which she claimed to have been engaged was concurred in by Secretary Sherman, and Solicitor's decision in the her. The Richmond and Danville Railroad, the is said to have been purely on a question of law, and did not affect the amount to be paid to the company. The Secretary reversed the decision, but Congress in turn reversed the Secretary's opinion. Mr. Rayner did not, as alleged, prepare the reports on the Metropolis disaster. When the testimony in that case was half in, Mr. Rayner began to make up his report, and after the entire testimony was presented to him, he found that the facts made it necessary for him to rewrite the first part of his opinion. Only one report was made to the Secretary.

Are the Jews Going Back?

Washington Post.

Some ingenious person has been searching the Scriptures with a view to finding in the terms of the treaty of Berlin a step toward the fulfillment of the prophecies concerning the final ingathering of Israel. The language of Isaiah is certainly very striking at this present time. He says: "Ho to the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, that sendeth ambassadors by the sea, even in vessels of bulrushes upon the waters; saying—go ye, swift messengers, to a nation scattered and peeled, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and trodden down, whose land the rivers have spoiled." The conclusion, in the eighteenth chapter, is that this nation (the Jews) are to be brought back "to the place of the name of the Lord of Hosts, the Mount of Zion."

In the sixtieth chapter we find the following: "Who are these that fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows? Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish first, to bring thy sons from afar, that silver is their gold for them, * * * and the sons of strangers shall build up thy walls, and their kings shall minister unto thee; for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my favor have I had mercy on thee. * * The sons of them that afflicted thee shall come bending unto thee, and all those that despised thee shall bow themselves down at the soles of thy feet, and they shall call thee the City of the Lord."

All commentators agree that Palestine and the Jews are the land and the people meant. "The land shadowing the wings" is identified with the Tarshish alluded to in the sixtieth chapter of Isaiah—"Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish first." Ezekiel, in the thirty-eighth chapter, speaks of Tarshish as in alliance with Dedan and Sheba, or India; and having to oppose an eruption from the north, the land of Gog and Magog, Rosh and Tubal. Tarshish is apparently England, and commentators agree that the land of Gog and Magog means Russia. Tarshish, with the young lions thereof, is described as an island with a great commerce, innumerable fleets; a place for manufacturing, with textile fabrics and exquisite dyes, gold and silver, tin and iron. The lion, as we all know, is the symbol of England, as the eagle is that of Rome, the bee of Assyria, the crocodile of Egypt. The scriptures commonly mention these other countries by their respective symbols, and why shall not the "young lions" refer to England?

Anyway, England is now thrust into the position foretold of Tarshish, and already "the swift messengers" are on their way. It seems incredible that the British protectorate of Asia Minor should be the forerunner of the return of the Jews to the Holy Land—for, in the first place, they have no desire to go there; and, secondly, Palestine could hardly contain them, now that they have become so numerous; but it is not more incredible than a prophesy would have been two hundred years ago that a Jew could be premier of England, and sit as her representative at the greatest peace conference ever held in Europe.

The Silver Dollars.

Washington Star.

During the past month the Treasury department has paid out 1,000,000 standard silver dollars, and has orders for about a million more. This amount has been put in circulation through the agency of the national banks and public depositaries, to whom it is sent free of transportation. A much larger amount would have been disposed of if the number of such institutions—one hundred and twenty—had been larger, or if the department could, under the law, furnish the coin free of transportation directly to individuals. Another drawback has been that the banks cannot obtain from the Treasury an amount larger than their securities. A bank having a security with the department of $100,000 cannot, of course, order from the Treasury an amount beyond that. A number of them, having ordered silver to the limit of their security, have requested the department to let them have it in exchange for $1 and $2 greenbacks. This has been invariably refused, as the Treasury does not desire to decrease the number of small bills in circulation. Treasurer Gilfillan does not regard the placing of 1,000,000 silver dollars among the people in a single month, with orders on hand for a million more, as indicative that it is impossible to get that coin in circulation. Besides, the time of the year when there is the greatest demand for small coin—the season for moving crops—has not arrived.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democrats of this District in Council--The Day's Proceedings--The Platform and Resolutions--Hon. J. J. Davis Chosen for the Congressional Candidate Unanimously.

The Convention met at Metropolitan Hall, at 12 o'clock, the large hall was filled with delegates, from the seven counties composing this, the Fourth District. These delegations were seated in groups, by counties. The galleries and lobby were filled by a number of spectators. The assembly was called to order by H. A. London, Esq., of Chatham. In a few manly words he referred to the past triumphs and present prospects of success. Advised unity of action, a casting aside of all prejudices, and giving the chosen man a hearty and united support.

He then called to the Chair, as temporary chairman, Capt. B. H. Bunn, of Nash county, and Mr. Wm. Biggs, of the Oxford Free Lance, as Secretary. The Chairman upon taking the stand commended the convention ready for

On motion that a committee of one appointed from each county, on permanent organization. Dr. J. W. Vick, chairman; J. P. Jenkins, Col. W. Yarborough, Dr. E. M. Holt, J. H. Mimms, Freeman Dowd and B. A. Capeheart were appointed.

On motion, one from each county was appointed a Committee on Platform and Resolutions. The following were the committee: H. A. London, of Chatham, Chairman, Jas. T. Battle. W. H. Pace, A. M. Noble, Col J. S. Amis, and Thos. B. Lyon.

These committees then retired for consultation. Calls were made for a number of speakers, but none faced the music. The Convention seemed in jolly humor, and laughed and called the names of every orator in the District.

The Committee on Permanent Organization made the following report: For permanent Chairman, C. B. Green, of Orange; Vice-Presidents: E. B. Atwater, of Chatham; W. R. Pool, Wake; W. S. Roulhac, Orange; Jesse Ellington, Johnston; W. R. Winstead, Nash; G. M. Cooley, Franklin; R. O. Gregory, Granville. For secretaries: the city editors of the Observer and NEWS.

The Chairman made a few remarks after being conducted to the chair by Messrs. A. S. Peace and Fab. H. Busbee, and introduced by the latter.

The Committee on Platform and Resolutions, through its Chairman, H. A. London, Esq., reported the following:

"We re-affirm our adherence to the time-honored principles of the Democratic party, and in the interests of ourselves and of our posterity, denounce all monopolies, high taxes, and all extravagance and waste in the expenditure of the people's money.

We denounce the contraction of the currency, the heartless and unpatriotic policy of the Republican administration, making the rich richer, and the poor poorer; which has caused a stagnation of business, destroyed the prosperity of the country, thrown thousands out of employment, and reduced millions to penury and want.

We denounce the demonetization of silver by the Republican party, in the interest of the capitalists and boadholders, and we congratulate the country on the successful efforts of the Democratic party to restore silver to its legitimate uses, even over the veto of a Republican President.

We demand the retirement of the circulation of the National banks; the substitution therefor of greenbacks, whose volume should be regulated by the requirements of trade and business; and the repeal of the tax on State banks, leaving their organization to the will of the people of the different States.

We demand a modification of the Revenue system, so that it shall not discriminate against Southern industries; a tariff for Revenue only, and not for the purpose of building up Northern manufactures at the expense of the South; and we favor a tax on incomes, thereby lessening the burdens of labor, and making capital pay its just proportion of public dues.

We denounce corruption in office, wherever it exists; the higher the plane, the greater the crime; and we call upon the people at the polls to punish the infamous electoral fraud by which the people of these United States were deprived of their right to elect their President.

Finally, we congratulate the people of the Union on the overthrow of the party of hate, with its corruptions and impositions, and upon the triumph of that policy of conciliation and fraternal kindness, which the Democratic party has so long and so persistently advocated."

The consideration of the resolutions was postponed until after the nomination of a candidate. The Chairman then announced that nominations were in order.

On motion, the rule of voting adopted in the Judicial Convention, was adopted.

The Chairman of each delegation when the roll of counties was called, stated the number of votes to which his county was entitled.

Mr. Blankenship, of Granville, nominated Gen. W. R. Cox.

Mr. A. H. Williams, of Granville, spoke in favor of unity of purpose and sentiment, and nominated Julian S. Carr, Esq.

Mr. B. H. Bunn, of Nash, in a few pertinent remarks, nominated Hon. Jos J Davis, eloquently referring to his past services in Congress.

Mr. Lyon, of Durham, seconded the nomination of Mr Carr.

Capt C B Denson, of Chatham, gracefully referred to the claims of Hon John Manning.

Mr Ed Moore, of Johnston, advocated those of General Cox.

Col W J Green, of Franklin, seconded the nomination of Hon J J Davis.

Col T B Venable, of Granville, seconded that of Gen. Cox

W H Pace, Esq, of Wake, returned thanks for the kind words said of Gen Cox, and favored his nomination.

The nominations were then declared closed, and the vote began, the roll of the counties in the District being called in alphabetical order, and each casting, through the chairman of its delegation, the number of votes allowed. The total number of votes was 168; necessary to a choice, 85. The balloting proceeded slowly, the delegations of several counties obtaining permission, after various ballots, to retire for consultation, of course suspending the proceeding during their absence. Ten ballots were had, with the following results:

First Ballot—Davis, 55; Cox, 64; Manning, 23; Carr, 26.

Second Ballot—Davis, 50; Cox, 64; Manning, 23; Carr, 26.

Third Ballot—Davis, 52; Cox, 63; Manning, 25; Carr, 28.

Fourth Ballot—Davis, 52; Cox, 63; Manning, 25; Carr, 28.

Fifth Ballot—Davis, 75; Cox, 72; Manning, 21.

Sixth Ballot—Davis, 76; Cox, 71; Manning, 21.

Seventh Ballot—Davis, 78; Cox, 69; Manning, 21.

Eighth Ballot—Davis, 78; Cox, 69; Manning, 21.

Ninth Ballot—Davis, 83½; Cox, 16; Manning, 68½.

Tenth Ballot—Davis, 168.

The result of the last ballot was announced amidst loud cheers and calls for Mr. Davis. On motion, he was declared unanimously nominated.

The resolutions introduced in the early stage of proceedings, but whose consideration was postponed, were then taken up and read by paragraphs. To the first paragraph these words were added: "And we explicitly demand the repeal of the Resumption Act" To the second paragraph this addition was made: "A reduction of the tax on tobacco, and a modification of the onerous tax on the distillation of fruit."

No amendments or other additions were made to the resolutions, which were adopted.

A motion being adopted that the nominee, Hon. Joseph J. Davis, be escorted to the Hall and requested to address the Convention, the Chair appointed Messrs. William Biggs and W. S. Roulhac to so escort him.

During the absence of this committee, Mr. Julian S Carr appeared on the stage, in response to calls, and in a few pleasant words congratulated the Convention upon the result of their labors.

A motion was adopted continuing the present Democratic Executive Committee of this District, for three years longer.

Hon. Jos. J. J. Davis at this time appeared, and made a stirring speech, full of vigor. He said the need of perfect unity was imperative, particularly at this juncture of affairs. The need of the next Congress being Democratic was put plainly before his auditors. Every action of the Democratic Congress gave assurance of devotion to the country and its prosperity. There is not a single feature in the National platform, of advantage to the country, for which the Democratic party has not labored. He would sustain in every way the principles of his party, and would conduct the campaign with ardor. He thanked the audience for making him their standard-bearer.

The convention adjourned. Hon. Joseph J. Davis, the nominee, was the recipient of congratulations by friends on every hand.

The Khedive's Embarrassment

From the Springfield Republican.

The bankrupt Khedive of Egypt has been forced to disband seven-eighths of his army of 40,000 or 50,000 men, including all the American officers who organized it, except Gen. Stone, chief of staff. There was quite an exodus of Northern and Southern officers (some of them recommended by Gen. Sherman, whose daughter the Khedive presented with costly diamonds in return) to Egypt between 1869 and 1875, where "the richest Prince in the world," as the Khedive was believed to be, received them with open arms. Not only were they given prominent positions, but the most influential of them were furnished with private residences and retinues of fellah servants. They overcame many obstacles, and built up an army that was a credit to Egypt, though a costly one. Some of the American officers also conducted successful expeditions of exploration or conquest, as that of Col. Long to the Nyassa lakes, and of Major Prout to Kordofan. They became pashas, beys, and lesser dignitaries, but many of them have left the service since the Khedive's financial troubles began. Those who have remained to be discharged have been unable to get anything from the Egyptian treasury for some time, and most of them are still trying to settle up their accounts with the government and the native traders.

NEWS NOTES.

A little Cincinnati girl, when asked what God had made her for, replied: "To wear a red fedder in my hat." Older girls, in Cincinnati and elsewhere, have had similar notions about their missions in life.

Vampire Bats in Brazil.

Correspondence N. Y. Herald.

Probably no part of the empire is more afflicted than a portion of the province of Bahia with the scourge of vampires. Whole herds of cattle are sometimes destroyed by this venomous bat. It was long a matter of conjecture how the animal accomplished the insidious and deadly work; but scientific men have now decided that the tongue, which is capable of considerable extension, is furnished at its extremity with a number of papillæ, which are so arranged as to form an organ of suction, the lips having also tubercles symmetrically arranged. Fastening themselves upon cattle, these dreadful animals can draw their blood from their victims. The wound made probably by the small needle-like teeth is a fine, round hole, the bleeding from which it is very difficult to stop. It is said that the wings of this deadly bat fly around during the operation of wounding and drawing blood with great velocity, thus fanning the victim and lulling while the terrible work is in progress. Some of these creatures measure two feet between the tips of their wings, and they are often found in great numbers in deserted dwellings in the outskirts of this city. The negroes and Indians especially dread them, and there are numerous superstitions among the natives in regard to them.

Trying to Mix Nerves.

A California paper says: "Among the peculiarities of courting in Texas is that the 'young feller' is occasionally asked to step outside the house and hold an apple or potato for the girl's brothers to shoot at, and it is considered highly unsociable not to comply. It is equally noteworthy that the well-to-do young suitors never get hit."

ELECTION—TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH.

The District Convention.

The Democratic Convention of the counties composing the Fourth Congressional District, which assembled in this city on yesterday, was a fine representative body of men. Every county was in place with its delegates, all of whom were animated, while earnest in individual opinions and preferences, by a common and patriotic desire to promote the highest and truest interests of the party. Every man seemed to realize the importance and necessity of zealous co-operation to hold the District to its Democratic moorings. Each one appeared to appreciate the fact that the danger which menaces us must be met with energy and sternest resolve. If the spirit which actuated the Convention on yesterday is responded to by our friends throughout the District, we may discard all apprehensions as to the result of unholy combinations and mongrel complications, and need only go forward, actively, firmly, hopefully, to insure triumphant success in November.

A detailed report of the proceedings of the Convention will be found elsewhere.

The action of the Convention in renominating the Hon. JOSEPH J. DAVIS, of Franklin, commands our heartiest approbation. It is no disparagement to the other excellent and distinguished gentlemen, who were brought into competition with him, (and the nomination of either of whom would have been an honor to the party,) to say that his patriotic and able course, as our Representative in Congress, merited such an endorsement at the hands of the Democracy of the District. No constituency ever had a more faithful Representative, one more devoted to its interests, or one who reflected more solid credit upon the State. Honest, vigilant, untiring in public duty,—of stainless character and reputation,—of a judgment that is rarely at fault and with a heart responsive to every generous and patriotic demand,—he deserves all the confidence reposed in him and will be equal to every expectation of his friends in the future, as he has been in the past. We hoist his gallant name to our mast-head, this morning, with pride and pleasure, and in the full and complete belief that, as in 1874 and 1876, he will carry our standard nobly and well and plant it in November on the ramparts of victory!

This much we have only time to say, to-day. The excellent platform laid down by the Convention is in full accord with the popular necessities and requirements, and speaks no uncertain language, but words of practical wisdom and patriotism. Of this, and many pleasing incidents of the Convention, we shall have more to say hereafter.

Mr. Manning, General Cox and Mr. Carr, though defeated for the nomination, have reason to be proud of the warm and earnest devotion of their many friends. No men in the District will support the nominee with a zeal superior to their's, a fact, however, which needs no affirmation at our hands, consistent as it is with their unselfish, uniform and life-long devotion to the interests of the party and of the State.

The Safe Middle-Paths.

The wise precautions of Ulysses, as narrated in the classic fable, by which he was enabled to steer between Scylla and Charybdis, have served ever since, and still serve, to point a valuable moral. The tendency of the average human mind, and especially of the American mind, is to rush into excess, and, as a result, theories and policies which, in their essence or inception, are right and good, are, before accomplishing the intended ends, often wrecked on the one or other shore of extremism. We have been more than ever impressed with this tendency, and the consequent danger, of late, as we have witnessed the mischievous extravagances into which certain men, here and there, are being led in order to show their devotion to the new "National" creed. We have been more than ever satisfied and convinced of the fact that in politics, as in everything else, the middle-paths are the safest. Let us illustrate:

The "National" platform, as we understand it, does not demand an illimitable and irredeemable greenback currency. And yet that is the extreme of folly to which ambitious aspirants for public favor are tending, in the expectation that, (as they say in that game of cards of which Minister Schenck was an exponent,) by "seeing" the Nationals and "going ten better," they will take the wind out of their sails and enhance their own claims upon the credulous masses. It has been said by some wag that it is difficult just now to find a politician who was not pledged to the greenback theory by his grandfather, fifty years before he was born. It is to be apprehended that, in some quarters, our Democratic friends are not guiltless of unbecoming tactics, in connection with this important financial question. At all events, we see it stated that Postmaster General Key is charged with the assertion that the tendency of Democracy is towards an exclusive legal-tender currency and repudiation. Whether he bases the allegation upon the wild utterances of some crazy theorist or designing schemer, or whether,—which is more likely,—it is the offspring of a subservient desire to please the men who feed him, it is equally false. The Democratic party, as an organization and in its authoritative expositions, occupies the safe middle path, and we trust will not be seduced by the Circe of any clamorous time-serving policy to depart from it. Mr. Thurman, who is the most prominent man among eligible Democratic nominees for the Presidency, and the accepted exponent of our views, is simply for a proper and reasonable inflation of the currency, against present resumption, for silver [illegible] coin, and no taint of sympathy with repudiation soils his record. The Washington Post puts the Democratic idea in a few vigorous sentences, when it says:

"The greenback is is the money of the people; the national bank note is the money of an oligarchy; gold and silver are the money of nature. The policy of the Democratic party will be for the treasury of the people to issue the dollar of the people, redeemable in the dollar of nature, to drive the oligarchy out of power and its money out of existence."

Sensible "Nationalists" ask nothing more, and their true alliance is with the party which has already blazed the way for such reforms and is destined to have the power to accomplish them.

And yet again: That feature of the National platform, which arraigns monopolies as dangerous to free institutions, lifts a warning voice against the exactions and oppressions of a monied aristocracy and demands for labor a proper recognition, is intrinsically right. But in the hands of blatant and vulgar demagogues and fanatics, it reaches into Communism and becomes a potent and baleful engine of mischief, turbulence and ruin. Such incendiaries as Kearney would lead the country to anarchy and their deluded followers to ruin. Riots and strikes, to which they would incite their victims, can only end in their destruction, while rightful reforms, attempted though determined but peaceful agencies, rarely fail of success in the long run. Chartism in England, with its "six points," was an angel compared with the demon of Communism. The English government allowed it full play for a long time, hoping its violent demonstrations would blow over. But when the Chartists finally turned themselves into a mob and demanded their "rights" with pike and musket, England crushed the "cause" and sent its leaders to prison or exile. Since then England has freely granted some of the points denied to mob-violence; and the fellows, like Kearney, who spout their profanity and blasphemy and abuse of the entire existing order of things, and counsel uprising and bloodshed undisturbed just now, little reck the retribution awaiting them, if they provoke too far the patience of more than nine-tenths of the American people.

The honest laboring masses of the country need redress of grievances. They demand protection against the over-shadowing influence of monied combinations and corporate wealth. They have neither purpose or wish to break the peace. Their instincts and aspirations are law-abiding. The Democratic party, in its history and aims and legislation, has proved itself the best friend of the workingman. Occupying the "safe middle-path," it will go on in its work of conservative legislation for the greatest good of the greatest number.

Edison has invented a "megaphone," by which a whisper can be heard 200 yards away, the noise of a cow cropping grass is conveyed 2000 yards, etc., and which he hopes to perfect so that it will literally supply ears to the deaf. The principle of this is the concentrated imitation of the mechanism of the human ear. The developments of Prof. Hughes's microphone in this direction, as reported in London, are remarkable, stories being told of a fly's motion across a vibrating plate sounding like the tramp of horses, and its "trumpeting" from the raised proboscis like an elephant in an Indian jungle, etc. The medium of impression in this case is carbon infiltrated with mercury. A still later invention of Edison's, on the principle of the phonograph, is called the embossing and translating system of telegraphy, but this and all the later devices to which we have alluded are yet too crude for us to describe intelligibly or to base any expectations upon. Mr. Edison's ideas follow each other in so rapid succession that not half of them can get into practical shape. He can hardly walk out without hitting upon some novel expedient for improving or achieving something. His inventions in telegraphy, by the way, are the property of the Western Union company; for he as inventor, like Mr. Prescott an electrician, is in the employ of that vast concern.

A Worthy Compliment.

The National Democratic Executive Committee, at Washington, are having printed, as a campaign document, for general circulation, the speech of the Hon. Joseph J. Davis, delivered at the last session of Congress, on the general subject of "Claims against the government." This speech was prepared with great care and ability, and was, perhaps, the most exhaustive one of the session, in either House, on the subject to which it refers. It exposes in a scathing manner the sensational and sectional clamor of the Radical press and politicians of the North with reference to "rebel claims," and embodies a striking array of facts and figures. It shows that the amount of these claims has been ridiculously and maliciously exaggerated, and that the amount of Northern or "loyal" claims paid, over those presented from the South, is in, perhaps, as large a ratio as fifty to one. While it demonstrates this, in the most effective manner, there is no concession that just and equitable claims by any portion of our people are not entitled to just as much consideration as similar claims from Maine or Ohio. Joseph J. Davis is the last man to make such a concession, or to yield one iota of the fullest rights of Southern men under a common government. The National Committee, in thus utilizing this excellent speech, have paid a high and merited compliment to our Representative in Congress.

Republican economy is shown in an annual governmental expenditure of $3.45 per capita for [illegible] purposes against a Democratic administration requires an annual expenditure of $1 94 per capita under the same circumstances.

"The mistakes of Joseph" is the title of one of Bob Ingersoll's lectures. If Bob will call this way, he can get some new lights on the subject.

VEGETINE.

FOR

Dropsy.

I never shall
FORGET THE FIRST DOSE.

PROVIDENCE.

MR. H R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir,—I have been a great sufferer from dropsy. I was confined to my house more than a year. Six months of the time I was entirely helpless. I was obliged to have two men help me in and out of bed I was swollen 19 inches larger than my natural size around my waist. I suffered all a man could and live. I tried all remedies for Dropsy: I had three different doctors. My friends all expected I would die; many nights I was expected to die before morning. At last Vegetine was sent me by a friend. I never shall forget the first dose. I could realize its good effects from day to day; I was getting better. After I had taken some 5 or 6 bottles I could sleep quite well nights. I began to gain now quite fast. After taking some 10 bottles, I could walk from one part of my room to the other. My appetite was good: the dropsy had at this time disappeared. I kept taking the Vegetine until I regained my usual health. I heard of a great many cures by using Vegetine after I got out and was able to attend to my work. I am a carpenter and builder. I will also say it has cured an aunt of my wife's of Neuralgia, who had suffered for more than 20 years. She says she has not had any neuralgia for eight months. I have given it to one of my children for Canker Humor. I have no doubt in my mind it will cure any humor; it is a great cleanser of the blood; it is safe to give a child. I will recommend it to the world. My father is 80 years old, and he says there is nothing like it to give strength and life to an aged person. I cannot be too thankful for the use of it. I am,

Very grateful yours,
JOHN S. NOTTAGE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.—If Vegetine will relieve pain; cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies and suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood: and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

VEGETINE.

NEWPORT, KY., Apr. 20, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—Having suffered from a breaking out of Cankerous Sores for more than five years, caused by an accident of a fractured bone, which fracture ran into a running sore, and have used every thing I could think of and nothing helped me, until I had taken six bottles of your valuable medicine which Mr. Miller the apothecary recommended very highly. The sixth bottle cured me, and all I can say, is that I owe my health to your valuable Vegetine.

Your most obedient servant,
ALBERT VON ROEDER.

"It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the diseases for which the Vegetine should be used, I known of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the Vegetine. When the blood is perfectly cleansed, the disease rapidly yields all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured.

Presumed Poisoning.

Dr. E. Nelson Booker, yesterday arrived in the city with the stomach and intestines of the late John King Johnston, of Elevation Township, Johnston county. The death of Mr. Johnston occurred on Monday last, under suspicious circumstances. Two men of the neighborhood, R. W. Powell and Calvin Smith, had for some time entertained a grudge against the deceased. It appears from the evidence before the Coroner's jury, that on the day of his death, the deceased was at the distillery of Powell, in company with the suspected parties. After drinking freely together, Powell and Smith put Johnston in a cart, he appearing too much intoxicated to walk. After driving about 300 yards from the still, they stopped the cart and put Johnston out, leaving him in a lane. Witnesses shortly afterwards passed by and saw the deceased, and from their evidence it is supposed that he must have expired in ten or fifteen minutes after being taken out of the wagon. A post-mortem examination by Drs. Booker and Smith revealed the fact that death resulted from unnatural causes. Powell and Smith was therefore arrested on suspicion of having poisoned Johnston, and are now confined in jail at Smithfield to await the result of the examination and analysis of the stomach, which will be made at once either by Prof. Ledoux, of Chapel Hill, or Dr. Genth, of Philadelphia.

The Board of State Canvassers.

This Board met yesterday at 10 o'clock, in the House of Commons. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Senators L. R. Waddell, of Johnson, and George B. Everett, of Forsythe. Messrs. E. Conkling and C. W. Lambeth acted as secretaries. The Attorney General was absent, on account of sickness. The Board began work by calling the roll of counties in alphabetical order. This was done by the Secretary of State. The certificates of election are those signed by the Board of Canvassers of each county. These were carefully examined to see that they were perfectly correct.

The following is the total vote for Judges and solicitors:

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head.

If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain-oppressing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alterative, Hostetter's stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exetsg a powerfully invigorating influence as well its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter the Bitters is unrivalled; it mitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the ailments peculiar to the gentler sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique. aug 22-6t

JONES' BAKING POWDER

—:o:—

We ask all cooks, housewives, and the general public to give our goods an impartial trial. This Powder is carefully prepared upon scientific principles—the result of long and careful experiments and tests in chemistry. In its proportions and compounding, it is the perfection of science, and is recommended by the leading Chemists in the United States, whose certificates we have. It is perfectly pure and wholesome, and saves time, labor and money to every consumer. It stands unrivaled; we challenge the world to produce better, more healthful or more wholesome goods.

REASONS WHY IT SHOULD BE USED:

A BARREL OF FLOUR MAKES ABOUT 40 POUNDS MORE BREAD
IT NEVER FAILS AND ALWAYS PLEASES THE CONSUMER.
IT IS THE PERFECTION OF SCIENCE IN COOKERY.
IT IS A COMFORT FOR EVERY HOME.
YOUR BREAD WILL NEVER BE SOUR.
YOUR FOOD WILL BE THE BEST.
YOUR BREAD WILL BE WHITER AND RICHER.
YOUR HEALTH WILL BE PRESERVED BY ITS PURITY.

WARRANTED TO KEEP IN ANY CLIMATE

We do most earnestly caution consumers of Baking Powder against using alum powders and cheap goods, as no good and pure Baking Powder can be sold for less than ours.

An analysis of the cheap clap-trap spurious adulterated goods called Baking Powders would startle the community of consumers beyond precedence, as most of it is unfit for use, and would not be allowed to be sold were the laws enforced; yet goods of this character manufactured and sold by dealers because offered cheap by unscrupulous manufacturers.

We caution those who value health, and appreciate good, wholesome living to use Jones' Pure Baking Powder. Jones' Unrivaled is such. It is an established article throughout the West and South, and is recommended by the highest authority for Purity and strength.

All first-class storekeepers have it because it is pure and can be relied upon, and give credit to their stock.

Merchants are authorized to warrant our goods where directions are followed.

Our statements are correct and are backed by chemists of note and experience, and we hold ourselves ready to prove our assertions.

We are offering goods of undoubted purity, which are in their compounding and claim "UNRIVALED."
